Champion Sheep, Swine Sell For Highest Prices at Fair

Ward's Royal Blue Market and Tink's Tavern were record-breaking bidders at the Pickaway County Fair Swine and Sheep auction Friday.

The grand champion market hog was purchased by Tink's for $1.21 a pound. It brought $272.25 for its owner, Donna Garrison. Ward Skinner paid $1.50 a pound for the grand champion lamb. Weighing 96 pounds, it returned $144 to Linda Allen.

The champion pen of three hogs, fed and shown by Lou Ann Gifford, went to the New Holland Grain Co. at 41 cents a pound. The reserve champion pen of three, shown by Bobby Collins, was purchased by the C. K. Elliot Livestock Co. of Mt. Victory for 43 cents a pound.

The buyer of the champion pen of three market lambs was Earl Liff Real Estate of Mt. Sterling. Liff purchased the three market lambs fed and shown by Linda Allen of near Derby, for 47 cents a pound.

LAURELVILLE Grain and Mill pushed Ward's Market to its sale topping price and then bought the reserve grand champion market lamb from Nancy Fenstermaker at 90 cents a pound.

The reserve champion pen of three market lambs was purchased by Bowling Stock Yard. Last night's sale was conducted by the Bowling Stock Yard. Willson Leist served as auctioneer and Jim Ford was the ringman.

The sales which climax the 4-H year for the many youths who have market livestock projects, established new records in all divisions.

The prices paid for the grand champion steer, hog and sheep all reached new highs this year. There were 306 hogs sold. The average price per pound for hogs sold individually was $39.90 per hundred weight.

THE total of the swine sale was $16,288.44.

There were 92 lambs sold at the fair, bringing a total of $2,678.89. The average price per hundredweight of single lambs was $53.46.

Here is a list of the buyers for the lamb sale:

Portable Kidney Machine Passes First Major Test

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A prototype artificial kidney small enough to carry has passed its first major test on a human volunteer, a University of Michigan research team reported Friday.

The volunteer, William Knezevich, 38, of Monroe, Mich., underwent two treatments this week. Researchers said in an interview that the trial run was "highly successful."

The apparatus, four inches in diameter and a foot long, was attached to Knezevich's left arm. His blood was routed out of an artery into the apparatus, purified, and put back into a vein.

The research team was made up of physicians and engineers from the University of Michigan

New Astronauts Are Scientists

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Space Agency has 11 new scientist-astronauts who may spend days on the moon, weeks in space stations circling Earth or month flying to Mars or other planets.

Selected for their scientific rather than piloting background the fledgling spacemen swelled the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's astronaut corps to 56. All must learn to fly jets before taking a space trip.

NASA said they came into the program to train to "conduct scientific experiments in manned orbiting satellites and to observe and investigate the lunar surface and circumterrestrial space."

They join five others in the scientist-astronaut category who joined in 1965.

The newest additions to the space team included the youngest, 25, and the oldest, 40, ever chosen by NASA, and brought the first two foreign-born astronauts into the program—an Australian and a Welshman.

A Manned Spacecraft Center official announced the all-civilian group Friday. However, earlier in the week it had confirmed that five on the list had been picked.

All hold doctor's degrees, either in the sciences or medicine. They are:

Joseph P. Allen, 30, research associate at the University of Washington.

Philip K. Chapman, 32, naturalized U.S. citizen from Melbourne, Australia; staff physicist at the Experimental Astronomy Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

Anthony W. England, 25, graduate fellow at MIT, doctorate in geophysics.

Karl G. Henize, 40, doctor of astronomy, professor at Northwestern University.

Donald L. Holmquest, 28, intern at Methodist Hospital in Houston, graduate of the Baylor University College of Medicine.

William B. Lenoir, 28, electrical engineering doctorate from MIT, an associate professor at MIT.

John A. Lewellyn, 34, born in Cardiff, Wales, an associate professor at Florida State University, doctorate in chemistry from University College, Cardiff.

F. Story Musgrave, 31, doctorate in physiology from the University of Kentucky, where he is a postdoctoral fellow.

Brian T. O'Leary, 27, Ph. D. in astronomy from the University of California, NASA trainee at Space Sciences Laboratory, Department of Astronomy, University of California.

Robert A. Parker, 30, associate professor of astronomy, University of Wisconsin, astronomy doctorate from the California Institute of Technology.

Judge Denies SNCC Injunction

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal judge has refused to enjoin local authorities from prosecuting members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) on charges growing out of this summer's racial disturbances.

The plaintiffs are not without remedy and the court cannot find that any or all of them will be irreparably damaged if the prosecutions go ahead, U.S. District Judge David S. Porter said Friday in denying the temporary injunction sought by the local SNCC chapter and the six Negroes.

Clifford, Taylor Make Their Report

Find Agreement
On War Policy
Among Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor returned from their Southeast Asian trip today reporting they found general agreement among the allies on how to push ahead with the Vietnam war.

"A great degree of consensus," was how Taylor summed up the attitude of allied leaders on which he was slated to report to President Johnson this afternoon.

"There was unanimous agreement among all the allies that the bombing should be carried on at its present level or possibly at an increased level," Clifford added.

And there was no reluctance expressed about sending more troops to Vietnam from other allied countries, Taylor said, "because we were not asking for more troops."

Johnson dispatched the two senior presidential advisers to talk with the chiefs of the countries who have forces fighting the Communists in Vietnam. Their two-week trip took them to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Taylor is the former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam and Clifford, a Washington lawyer, has been an adviser to Johnson and other Democratic presidents.

While little concrete information has been given out concerning the Clifford-Taylor mission, Johnson apparently sent his senior confidants to talk with the leaders of the nations with troops in South Vietnam to:

—Check on the progress of the military and political-economic campaigns in South Vietnam.

—Give the allied chiefs Johnson's latest views on the Vietnam effort.

—Receive the views of the allied leaders and relay them to Johnson.

—Survey prospects for the next Vietnam summit parley. The last such summit gathering was at Manila last October. The next one is expected in Seoul or Bangkok this fall.

Washington sources said the outlook for peace negotiations with North Vietnam was also within the wide scope of the discussions by Clifford and Taylor in the allied capitals. But they said there was no talk of a dramatic new peace offensive.

Pentagon spokesmen revealed Friday the administration will dip into the nation's strategic reserve—troops units normally kept on duty inside the United States—to meet the newly authorized 525,000-man strength level for Vietnam by next summer.

Gloria said she and Mike, 19, of Pueblo, Colo., plan to become engaged next summer.

He said he was informed in his compartment Saturday that a letter had arrived for him at the ship's post office but there was a penny postage due.

2 McNamara Projects Hit By Senate

Cuts Fill Funds,
Logistic Ships
Plan Knocked Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has dealt new blows to two of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's prime projects—the controversial F111D jet planes and massive ships intended to serve as floating military warehouses.

The actions came Friday as the Senate panel sent to the floor a massive $70.16 billion defense money bill, including $20 billion for Vietnam war costs. The total was slightly less than the $70.23 billion defense measure approved by Congress for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Committee members conceded privately the $20 billion Vietnam total will fall short of meeting actual costs, especially after President Johnson's announcement Thursday he is dispatching 45,000 to 50,000 more troops to the Southeast Asia conflict.

The better than $70 billion okayed by the committee was $1.4 billion below Johnson's budget requests and $139 million less than the House approved June 13.

The Senate committee accepted House action in denying $300 million that McNamara requested for construction of a fleet of fast deployment logistic ships.

The defense chief has said the floating arsenals would allow the United States to move quickly to avert crises. But some Senate critics have said use of such ships could result in U.S. involvement in future conflicts such as Vietnam.

The Senate panel also reduced from $287 million to $115 million funds to build the F111D jets—the Navy version of the long controversial TFX. The House version cut funds for the swing-wing interceptor to $208 million.

The plane has been designated by McNamara for use by all services. Designers have encountered weight problems in attempting to fit the plane to aircraft carrier use.

Poverty War Is Stabbed in Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate champion of the war on poverty says the program is imperiled by "stabs in the back" falsely linking its men and money with racial hatred and Negro rioting.

But a Southern senator said such charges against antipoverty agencies have not been proved false.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said in his view the charges were substantiated by the very witness summoned to deny them.

"We serve nobody's interests except the fellow that wants to poverty program," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., criticizing the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into the committee.

President Johnson's $2 billion poverty program request already faces trouble in Congress.

"This is sure as hell not helping," Hart said in an interview. "It doesn't need this kind of stabs in the back, unverified charges and irrelevancies."

Another defense of the poverty program came Friday from the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, who denied the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverty agency he heads has funneled funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity to a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

He told the Judiciary Committee that funds have been allocated for that school program, and a contract has been signed—but if it teaches race hatred no money will go to it.

"We've made mistakes," he acknowledged, and cited as one of them a transaction which put the Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in possession of a new station wagon leased by the local poverty agency.

"I'm very concerned that the poverty program go on when it is well administered, because this can be the solution to the problem of riots," said the Rev. Mr. Davis, a soft-spoken, gray-haired man in Episcopal clerical attire. Once a Wall Street lawyer, he said he turned to the ministry seven years ago.

enjoyable to see the fair strictly as a visitor, he admitted the activity he had participated in for so many years.

A visitor yesterday at the fair was Jim Helt, ex-4-H agent for Pickaway County. Helt is now headquartered at Hill'sboro where he serves as an area 4-H agent.

Congressman William Harsha visited the fair Friday and Saturday. He was at the sheep and swine auction to offer words of encouragement to the buyers just before the bidding got under way.

Youths at the Pickaway County Children's Home had livestock projects in a 4-H Club this year. The youngsters borrowed the money to buy their projects and to purchase the feed. The notes will be paid off when their checks arrive from the sale of the livestock. All the profit will be retained by the youths who cared for and showed the project.

Ralph Starkey, executive secretary of the Child Welfare Board, said he learned a lot about livestock during the summer.

The highlight of the 4-H Pickaway County Colt and Equitation Club each year is the horse show at the fair. For the past five years, the Circleville Kiwanis Club has provided the ribbons and trophies necessary to sponsor the show. The local Colt and Equitation Club is the oldest club of this type in the state of Ohio. Advisers are Dr. Floyd Dunlap, Sterling Poing and Marvin Reichelderfer.

Delaware Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. declared a state of emergency in Wilmington to deal with what he called "rebellion," aides said though the city was currently quiet a "potential" for trouble existed.

In Wichita, the confrontation between police and the Negroes took place after Mayor Clarence Vollmer imposed an emergency curfew in the northeast part of the city.

At Elgin, Ill., authorities clamped a 10 p.m. curfew after a half-dozen fires broke out Friday night. Officials said five were caused by gasoline bombs. Three Negroes were arrested and charged with arson.

The disturbance was the second within a week in Elgin, 30 miles west of Chicago.

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, linking domestic racial strife with U.S. foreign policy, warns that this country lacks "a cohesive world strategy for the long run."

Romney, a possible 1968 Republican presidential candidate, added in an address to 10,000 persons Friday night at Chautauqua Institution:

"I believe we are in danger of 'whip-pocking' crucial international decisions. I believe we have placed more emphasis on the problem of today than on the purpose of tomorrow."

"Vietnam is an example," the governor continued. "Our preoccupation with Vietnam has infected many important relationships in other areas of the world. In terms of over-all American interests, the Vietnam tail is wagging the global dog."

Man Is Killed By Freight Train

CINCINNATI (AP) — Louis T. Ormes, 63, Woodlawn, was killed Friday night when he was hit by a train in a Cincinnati suburb.

Police Lt. James Webster quoted W. T. Brown, engineer of the southbound Baltimore & Ohio Railroad freight train, as saying that he saw a man lying alongside the tracks but could not stop in time.

Poverty War Is Stabbed in Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate champion of the war on poverty says the program is imperiled by "stabs in the back" falsely linking its men and money with racial hatred and Negro rioting.

But a Southern senator said such charges against antipoverity agencies have not been proved false.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said in his view the charges were substantiated by the very witness summoned to deny them.

"We serve nobody's interests except the fellow that wants to poverty program," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., criticizing the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into the committee.

President Johnson's $2 billion poverty program request already faces trouble in Congress. "This is sure as hell not helping," Hart said in an interview. "It doesn't need this kind of stabs in the back, unverified charges and irrelevancies."

Another defense of the poverty

program came Friday from the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, who denied the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverity agency he heads has funneled funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity to a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

He told the Judiciary Committee that funds have been allocated for that school program, and a contract has been signed—but if it teaches race hatred no money will go to it.

"We've made mistakes," he acknowledged, and cited as one of them a transaction which put the Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in possession of a new station wagon leased by the local poverty agency.

"I'm very concerned that the poverty program go on when it is well administered, because this can be the solution to the problem of riots," said the Rev. Mr. Davis, a soft-spoken, gray-haired man in Episcopal clerical attire. Once a Wall Street lawyer, he said he turned to the ministry seven years ago.

Midway Chatter

4-H livestock was released today from the barns at the Fairgrounds. Big Bear, purchaser of the grand champion steer at a record breaking $1.25 a pound, promptly moved the animal to their local store where it was to be on display all day.

A visitor yesterday at the fair was Jim Helt, ex-4-H agent for Pickaway County. Helt is now headquartered at Hill'sboro where he serves as an area 4-H agent.

Congressman William Harsha visited the fair Friday and Saturday. He was at the sheep and swine auction to offer words of encouragement to the buyers just before the bidding got under way.

Youths at the Pickaway County Children's Home had livestock projects in a 4-H Club this year. The youngsters borrowed the money to buy their projects and to purchase the feed. The notes will be paid off when their checks arrive from the sale of the livestock. All the profit will be retained by the youths who cared for and showed the project.

Ralph Starkey, executive secretary of the Child Welfare Board, said he learned a lot about livestock during the summer.

The highlight of the 4-H Pickaway County Colt and Equitation Club each year is the horse show at the Fair. For the past five years, the Circleville Kiwanis Club has provided the ribbons and trophies necessary to sponsor the show. The local Colt and Equitation Club is the oldest club of this type in the state of Ohio. Advisers are Dr. Floyd Dunlap, Sterling Poling and Marvin Reichelderfer.

Man Is Acquitted Of Murder Charge

CELINA, Ohio (AP) — Gerald Van Tilburg of Rockford was acquitted Friday by a Mercer County Common Pleas Court jury of a second-degree murder charge in the death last January of William D. Rice, 55, of Ohio City, Van Wert County.

Rice died two years after he was involved in an accident with a schoolbus driven by Van Tilburg.

Gas Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission said Friday it has authorized the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus, Ohio, to build about $1.2 million worth of additional natural gas pipeline facilities to serve its utility customers in the state.

145 Missions Flown Friday Aimed at Guns

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes kept up heavy pressure on North Vietnam Friday, flying 145 missions after a record 197 strikes the previous day, and a main target was the Communist guns which were shooting at them.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots reported they destroyed at least 17 antiaircraft gun emplacements around the air field and railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other pilots flew through heavy antiaircraft fire and surface-to-air missiles to hit other military targets and fuel storage areas.

The Communist fire brought down a Navy Skyhawk and the pilot was missing. It was the 636th announced U.S. warplane loss over the North.

Ground fighting continued in one of its periodic lulls, but South Vietnamese military headquarters said three infantry sweeps in the Viet Cong-infested Mekong delta had accounted for a total of 469 enemy dead in nine days.

The Viet Cong struck again at two U.S. military installations near Saigon.

For the second time in 10 days, the Communists unleashed a mortar attack on the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

The attack Friday night killed one American and wounded eight. A Communist rocket and mortar barrage on the base camp July 27 killed 11 U.S. soldiers and wounded 43.

The U.S. naval base at Nhe Be, eight miles southeast of Saigon, came under Communist recoilless rifle attack early today for the second time in three days.

Disturbances Mostly Minor Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A group of 150 Negroes pelted law officers with rocks, bottles and debris in Wichita, Kan., early today marring an otherwise peaceful night in the nation's streets.

Milwaukee relaxed its nighttime curfew on drink and travel until midnight Friday, allowing taverns to resume normal business for the first time since riots hit the city's Inner Core on Sunday.

Delaware Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. declared a state of emergency in Wilmington to deal with what he called "rebellion," aides said though the city was currently quiet a "potential" for trouble existed.

In Wichita, the confrontation between police and the Negroes took place after Mayor Clarence Vollmer imposed an emergency curfew in the northeast part of the city.

At Elgin, Ill., authorities clamped a 10 p.m. curfew after a half-dozen fires broke out Friday night. Officials said five were caused by gasoline bombs. Three Negroes were arrested and charged with arson.

The disturbance was the second within a week in Elgin, 30 miles west of Chicago.

In Nashville, Tenn., Fred H. Brooks, the Black Power advocate who claims to be head of a "Liberation School," said it would continue operating whether or not it gets federal funds.

Police Capt. John A. Sorace told the Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington Thursday the school teaches "pure, unadulterated hatred of the white race."

Romney Says Vietnam War Usurps Stage

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, linking domestic racial strife with U.S. foreign policy, warns that this country lacks "a cohesive world strategy for the long run."

Romney, a possible 1968 Republican presidential candidate, added in an address to 10,000 persons Friday night at Chautauqua Institution:

"I believe we are in danger of 'whip-pocking' crucial international decisions. I believe we have placed more emphasis on the problem of today than on the purpose of tomorrow."

"Vietnam is an example," the governor continued. "Our preoccupation with Vietnam has infected many important relationships in other areas of the world. In terms of over-all American interests, the Vietnam tail is wagging the global dog."

Romney's address was interrupted frequently by applause at the amphitheatre of the institution, a privately run cultural, educational and religious center in the southwestern corner of New York State.

Romney, whose state recently was the scene of racial violence in Detroit and other cities, said the nation must set its own house in order before it can effectively tackle international problems.

ROYALTY IN A PIG PEN — Nancy Fenstermaker and Dick Thornton, king and queen of the Pickaway County Fair, discovered during the week that their duties kept them pretty busy. Dear Abby: Adopted Children No 'Orphans'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in the same city with his parents. We happen to have two adopted children and two "natural" children.

My husband's parents show a marked preference for our natural children. They say our adopted children would be better off in an orphanage with other "orphans" who are in the same boat. Should we continue to retain contact with these grandparents, or should we refrain from seeing them until they learn to accept our adopted children?

TORN

DEAR TORN: What's this "same boat" your adopted children and those in an orphanage are supposedly in? The children in an orphanage have no parents — yours have. I would not expose my children (any of them) to grandparents so cruel and unjust as theirs appear to be.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to sound off about people who ask real estate dealers to show them homes when they are in no position to buy.

You'd be amazed at the number of people who make a past-time of "looking" at homes. This takes up the time a salesman could be devoting to a customer who is really in the market to buy.

I've had people tell me they can't afford to buy just now, but maybe in "4 or 5 years" they will. Others take up half a day, and then say they are looking for "a relative."

Others just want someone to chauffeur them around for a Sunday afternoon. But the payoff was the lady who had me out every day for a week showing her new homes. Then she told me she's planning to build, and she just wanted some "ideas." How about people like that?

IN REAL ESTATE
DEAR IN: Everyone who has something to sell is exposed to "lookers." And real estate people are no exception. But the salesman who treats all prospects with the same patience and courtesy he shows a "live one," will make more sales.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know who I should turn to, so I'll ask you first. Am I normal? Or am I going crazy? I dislike my husband and can't stand my two daughters, ages 6 and 8. I hate my 2-year-old son. He is a very active child and is always into something. And I seem to enjoy beating them.

I am tired all the time and brood a lot about being unloved and being incapable of loving my children. I could fill your whole column with my problems.

I think I need help. But where can I get it? I can't go to our family doctor because he's a friend of my husband's family, and I don't want them to know I have problems.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Ask a friend whose judgment you respect to recommend a doctor, and make an appointment to see him at once. If you have no friend to ask, telephone your local Mental Health association and ask for their recommendation. I think your problem is urgent.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Friday's Child": The woman who is more concerned with how she looks than with the man who is looking at her bats zero in sex appeal.

New Heart Operation Gives Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—A 38-year-old man was reported on the road to recovery after an operation replacing his damaged aortic valve with the valve of a calf.

The open-heart surgery, disclosed Thursday by the New York Medical College, was performed July 7 at Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital. The man, not identified, was reported recovering at his Astoria, Queens, home.

"While the evaluation of long-term valve function must await the passage of time, early results are considered to be excellent," the medical school announced.

The four-hour operation was performed by Drs. Sheldon Burman and Ciro Armellini of the medical school.

The surgical procedure is said to be the first of its kind in the city. Similar surgery has been done in Browns Mills, N.J., London, and Melbourne, Australia.

Burman and Armellini said that calves' valves have advantages over artificial valves because they are plentiful, nearly identical in composition and structure to the human valve, and appear to be well-tolerated by human recipients without inciting a foreign-body reaction.

Flower Arrangement Show Given

An audience of 60 interested Pickaway County Fair visitors heard Mrs. Robert Durant, Lancaster, give a lecture and demonstration on Modern Japanese Flower Arrangement Thursday afternoon.

The demonstration was held in the 4-H and Grange building at 3 p. m. The speaker was dressed in the native costume of Japan, a kimono with an obi or sash.

Masa Durant had set up a display of Japanese arrangements on a long table to the side of the audience. She gave her lecture from the stage of the Grange Building working with considerable ease as she talked. Mrs. Durant used greenhouse flowers in the arrangements she had on display.

On the stage, however, she worked mostly with garden flowers and foliage found in abundance locally.

SHE explained the basic Japanese lines, Heaven, Earth and Man. She drew these lines on the blackboard to show correct proportions. She explained that each line could have one or more helpers.

Masa Durant said that the proportion of Japanese traditional arrangement was one and one half times the height or the diameter of the container. But in creating arrangements for a church or a hotel the proportion was increased to as much as three times or even more.

Mrs. Durant's arrangements were all made in Japanese containers of bronze, pottery or lacquer. She provided bases for all arrangements. Bases were bamboo, teakwood or lacquer.

She demonstrated the difference in the upright and slanting styles. She explained how the three dimensional effect was achieved in the Ribbo or Temple arrangements.

Mrs. Durant said that her husband, a native of Tarlton, had told her about the Pickaway County Fair and she was happy to be part of it.

Bare Facts Revealed About Bareback Ride

COVENTRY, England (AP)—The naked truth about Lady Godiva is that she didn't ride nude through the streets of Coventry, says a report prepared for the 900th anniversary of her death.

To help commemorate the anniversary, Sept. 9, the Coventry City Council asked Joan Lancaster and Dr. Hilda Davidson to write a book. Miss Lancaster, formerly the city's archivist, is now archivist for Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office.

"Lady Godiva may have ridden in a beggar's garb on a horse without a saddle," she says. "But we feel strongly that she would not ride around naked in the 11th century. That sort of thing just would not happen."

She said she has studied ancient documents that say only that "Lady Godiva was stripped of all signs of her rank—not that she was stripped naked, or that she was stripped."

Dr. Davidson, a former university lecturer, observed: "The story of the ride has been exaggerated until people accept that she did ride around naked."

Lady Godiva's ride was supposed to have been in protest against cruel taxes laid on the people by her husband Leofric.

"There is no real evidence to suggest that any protest took place," said Miss Lancaster. "If she did ride through the streets it is much more likely that she was 'stripped' of all signs of rank to associate with the common people."

If the two ladies are right, the world owes an apology to the original Peeping Tom. A Coventry tailor named Tom is supposed to have been the only citizen who peeped at her ladyship on her ride.

Dead Climbers Weren't Type To Regret Choice

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—One climbed mountains "to look at the sky and the rock and the snow and the flowers."

"For the past 10 years my first love has been climbing," another wrote.

"I won't let life pass me by, and when my time comes I will be ready to take it at the flood," wrote Stephen Taylor, 22, of Chicago.

Taylor's tide engulfed him on the icy slopes of Alaska's Mt. McKinley before he had a chance to conquer the 20,320-foot peak.

Two of his companions also are dead. Four others are missing, and probably lie buried, perhaps forever, under a 10-foot blanket of snow left by a two-day storm this week.

Taylor's body was found at a 17,900-foot camp where he had been forced to stay because of altitude sickness when the six others began their successful ascent July 18. Their radioed "all's well" from the summit was the last word heard from them.

The bodies of two of them, still unidentified, were found a few hundred feet from Taylor's on a ridge. All three will remain on the mountain since the terrain makes removal too hazardous.

In addition to Taylor the climbers were Jerry Clark, 31, Mark McLaughlin, 23, and John Russell, 22, all of Eugene, Ore. Henry Janes, 25, Lafayette, Ind., and Portland, Ore., Dennis Luchterhand, 23, S e a r s d a l e, N.Y., and Walter Taylor, 24, Lafayette, Ind.

Mrs. Durant's arrangements were all made in Japanese containers of bronze, pottery or lacquer. She provided bases for all arrangements. Bases were bamboo, teakwood or lacquer.

She demonstrated the difference in the upright and slanting styles. She explained how the three dimensional effect was achieved in the Ribbo or Temple arrangements.

Mrs. Durant said that her husband, a native of Tarlton, had told her about the Pickaway County Fair and she was happy to be part of it.

Bare Facts Revealed About Bareback Ride

COVENTRY, England (AP) — The naked truth about Lady Godiva is that she didn't ride nude through the streets of Coventry, says a report prepared for the 900th anniversary of her death.

To help commemorate the anniversary, Sept. 9, the Coventry City Council asked Joan Lancaster and Dr. Hilda Davidson to write a book. Miss Lancaster, formerly the city's archivist, is now archivist for Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office.

"Lady Godiva may have ridden in a beggar's garb on a horse without a saddle," she says. "But we feel strongly that she would not ride around naked in the 11th century. That sort of thing just would not happen."

She said she has studied ancient documents that say only that "Lady Godiva was stripped of all signs of her rank—not that she was stripped naked, or that she stripped."

Dr. Davidson, a former university lecturer, observed: "The story of the ride has been exaggerated until people accept that she did ride around naked."

Lady Godiva's ride was supposed to have been in protest against cruel taxes laid on the people by her husband Leofric. "There is no real evidence to suggest that any protest took place," said Miss Lancaster. "If she did ride through the streets it is much more likely that she was 'stripped' of all signs of rank to associate with the common people."

If the two ladies are right, the world owes an apology to the original Peeping Tom. A Coventry tailor named Tom is supposed to have been the only citizen who peeped at her ladyship on her ride.

Dead Climbers Weren't Type To Regret Choice

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — One climbed mountains "to look at the sky and the rock and the snow and the flowers."

"For the past 10 years my first love has been climbing," another wrote.

"I won't let life pass me by, and when my tide comes I will be ready to take it at the flood," wrote Stephen Taylor, 22, of Chicago.

Taylor's tide engulfed him on the icy slopes of Alaska's Mt. McKinley before he had a chance to conquer the 20,320-foot peak.

Two of his companions also are dead. Four others are missing, and probably lie buried, perhaps forever, under a 10-foot blanket of snow left by a two-day storm this week.

Taylor's body was found at a 17,900-foot camp where he had been forced to stay because of altitude sickness when the six others began their successful ascent July 18. Their radioed "all's well" from the summit was the last word heard from them.

The bodies of two of them, still unidentified, were found a few hundred feet from Taylor's on a ridge. All three will remain on the mountain since the terrain makes removal too hazardous.

In addition to Taylor the climbers were Jerry Clark, 31, Mark McLaughlin, 33, and John Russell, 22, all of Eugene, Ore. Henry James, 25, Lafayette,

Asian Experts' Feel Break in Vietnam Due

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Some experts on Southeast Asia are nursing a hunch that a break in the Vietnam war is coming and that some sort of preliminary settlement may result.

Part of this thinking is based upon events in Red China and the impact these events have had on China's neighbors. Part is based on evidence of Soviet interest in helping to bring about an end to the clash between American and Communist arms.

Frank N. Trager, professor of international affairs at New York University, says he feels a break in the war is in prospect.

"In my view, the clash of regular armies could end in Vietnam during this calendar year. I expect some sort of settlement in 1967 or early 1968," he writes in the American Legion magazine.

Trager, just back from Vietnam and other points in Southeast Asia, adds that this would not mean an end to conflict. He says there could be a settlement of sorts with the basic U.S. goal, independence for South Vietnam, achieved, but that "we will clearly have to stay in Viet Cong guerrillas, which could take years after the fighting between regular armies ended."

Other Southeast Asia specialists assert the U.S. stand in South Vietnam has strengthened the will of other nations in the area to resist Communist incursions. Today, Red China is exerting formidable pressure on virtually all her neighbors to the south: India, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia and others. Peking has picked quarrels with all of them, and eventually may have succeeded in pushing them together in self-defense.

China's policy, probably dictated by its internal problems attendant upon the purge called "the cultural revolution," has had a boomerang effect. Nations which wanted to stay neutral, such as Burma, have been frightened by the blatant hostility coming from Peking and deliberate attempts to interfere in internal affairs. China's attitude, indeed, can strengthen the unity of other Asians in such enterprises as the Association of Southeast Asia.

These nations are interested in some sort of Asian solution to Vietnam, possibly within the framework of the 1954 Geneva accord but arrived at this time on Asian soil.

Moscow's interest in averting dangerous pressures in Asia also inspired in part by China's truculence—lends hope to those who feel there may be some light at the end of the dark tunnel that is Vietnam. China's frightening posture can have its effect on North Vietnam as well as on other Southeast Asians, and in such circumstances, Moscow's influence could carry much more weight.

Winning the Best of Show award at the final Pickaway County Fair flower show held Friday was Mrs. Bernard Savey of 930 Circle Drive.

Asian Experts' Feel Break in Vietnam Due

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Some experts on Southeast Asia are nursing a hunch that a break in the Vietnam war is coming and that some sort of preliminary settlement may result.

Part of this thinking is based upon events in Red China and the impact these events have had on China's neighbors. Part is based on evidence of Soviet interest in helping to bring about an end to the clash between American and Communist arms.

Frank N. Trager, professor of international affairs at New York University, says he feels a break in the war is in prospect.

"In my view, the clash of regular armies could end in Vietnam during this calendar year. I expect some sort of settlement in 1967 or early 1968," he writes in the American Legion maga-

Trager, just back from Vietnam and other points in Southeast Asia, adds that this would not mean an end to conflict. He says there could be a settlement of sorts with the basic U.S. goal, independence for South Vietnam, achieved, but that "we will clearly have to stay in Viet Cong guerrillas, which could take years after the fighting between regular armies ended."

Other Southeast Asia specialists assert the U.S. stand in South Vietnam has strengthened the will of other nations in the area to resist Communist incursions. Today, Red China is exerting formidable pressure on virtually all her neighbors to the south: India, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia and others. Peking has picked quarrels with all of them, and eventually may have succeeded in pushing them together in self-defense.

China's policy, probably dictated by its internal problems attendant upon the purge called "the cultural revolution," has had a boomerang effect. Nations which wanted to stay neutral, such as Burma, have been frightened by the blatant hostility coming from Peking and deliberate attempts to interfere in internal affairs. China's attitude, indeed, can strengthen the unity of other Asians in such enterprises as the Association of Southeast Asia.

These nations are interested in some sort of Asian solution to Vietnam, possibly within the framework of the 1954 Geneva accord but arrived at this time on Asian soil.

Moscow's interest in averting dangerous pressures in Asia also inspired in part by China's truculence—lends hope to those who feel there may be some light at the end of the dark tunnel that is Vietnam. China's frightening posture can have its effect on North Vietnam as well as on other Southeast Asians, and in such circumstances, Moscow's influence could carry much more weight.

Triple Face of Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Time is a strange thing.

Today is today. But what was today yesterday? It was tomorrow. And what will today be tomorrow? It will be yesterday. So every day has three identities—yesterday, today and tomorrow.

By the miracle of memory all our yesterdays again become momentary today; bygone scenes, sounds and scents come alive again to tinge us anew with wonder or regret.

You've got a pretty good collection of yesterdays in your memory gallery if you can look back and remember when—

Riots seemed to occur only in foreign countries.

It was thought you had musical aptitude if you learned how to pump a player piano.

The revolutionary idea of installing radios in automobiles was opposed by some on the grounds that it would cause carnage on the highways by distracted drivers.

We had a popular folk hero who neither sang nor spoke in guitar, and didn't even wear a beard. Who was he? Tarzan of the apes, that's who.

College teams played football for fun.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist, was thought to be a wild-eyed radical and a threat to the American way of life.

In hot weather young ladies carried fans to the theater, but used them more as instruments of flirtation than as tools to lower their temperature.

You definitely didn't belong to the "in" set if you didn't know how to play mah-jongg.

Women's bathing suits hung lower than today's miniskirts.

Many people opposed the goal of a five-day work week on the grounds that the laboring classes would only use the added day of leisure to destroy themselves through sin and drunken revelry.

Long-distance phone calls were so expensive that relatives couldn't afford to ring you up more than once a year to tell you their troubles.

A dog could fall asleep in most American village streets without fear of being run over, because, if a horse and buggy came along, he could always wake up in time to get out of the way.

More men slept in flannel nightgowns in winter than in pajamas.

Little old ladies hadn't discovered sneakers. They padded around in slippers.

Two of the biggest problems facing a boy growing into manhood were learning how to shave with a straight razor and how to chew tobacco.

A majority of U.S. business leaders were self-made men who generally looked on a college education as a waste of time.

A kid could leave his bicycle unlocked in the front yard overnight without fear it would be stolen.

People didn't hesitate about nodding to a stranger and giving him a friendly "howdy."

Those were the days! Remember?

The Business World

By John Cunniff

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are writers in residence, musicians in residence, artists and poets in residence on America's campuses, so why not a business executive in residence.

Dean Ossian MacKenzie, who heads the business college at Pennsylvania State University, asked himself why not. Now Penn State has an executive in residence, and the program is being studied and copied by other schools.

Bruce Wiesley, vice president of American Can Co., was the first. He was followed by James Victor Jones of Armstrong Cork Co. A third executive may be named shortly.

"It takes a lot of doing, a lot of organizing," said MacKenzie, "but this is one of the most stimulating things we've ever done."

The companies which provide the executives also must be stimulated because, as MacKenzie says, "The men we want are in operating positions. They must be in decision-making capacities, on the firing line."

Says Wiesley, "It was damned interesting. It was pleasant, but it was hard work. They like to get the most out of you there, so they double the classes when you're on campus to get more mileage out of you. But that's just good business."

MacKenzie feels the same way. It is imperative, he believes, for business to get the most out of the nation's business schools. But the schools also must establish better rapport with business.

The choice of Wiesley, whose boss at American Can is among the university's visiting counsel, was especially timely. Wiesley is a marketing man, and so he and the faculty of the College of Business Administration developed a course in marketing procedures at the very time that truth in packaging legislation was being debated in Congress.

"I had 20 graduate students in my group," Wiesley explained. "We agreed on a selected list of topics with the faculty. I met with the professors and we decided on subject material and developed a bibliography."

According to MacKenzie,

Wiesley did a lot more too.

"The days Bruce spent here may have been among his hardest," said MacKenzie. "He worked from 8 in the morning until 10:30 at night."

"Our term is 10 weeks and he spent about three of those here on campus, a week at the beginning of the course, a week in the middle and then a week at the end." The third week was devoted largely to term papers.

"In addition," said MacKenzie, "he spoke before some undergraduate honor students. He also was a consultant to the faculty, which met in seminars of four or five persons."

During this time Wiesley was responsible for his position back at American Can, which approved highly of the program and which, Wiesley believes, would send another executive if asked.

"This is a good way of bridging the gap between modern business, industrial life and the academic community," he says.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The annual Eshelman and Sons Co. picnic was held at Gold Cliff Park with 350 in attendance.

Two entries at Scioto Downs owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Fissell came in first in each of their races.

The Clerk of Courts Title Dept. reported that 107 new cars were sold in the county during July.

Main topic of discussion at the city council meeting was the proposed city manager - type of government for the city.

Flying saucer reports were commonplace news as at least two per day were reported.

The county extension agent said prospects for the corn crop were excellent but a good 48-hour rain was badly needed.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
A black out in the city which had existed since December 1941 ended with an affirmative vote of city council to turn the street lights back on.

An appeal was made for an increase in firemen's and police officers' wages.

George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, announced the opening day of school would be observed Sept. 8.

In a tape recording to be sealed in a cornerstone for a new Chicago building, Sen. Everett Dirksen predicts a four-hour work day, four days a week. Don't get excited, the senator's only guessing, not promising.

That 16-hour work week sounds great, though the world may have to wait for it until, as the senator suggests, the year 2067.

Dirksen also foresees people wearing throw-away clothes by 2067. Wonder if they'll call that era the Strip-Tease Age?

Speaking of time capsules — one, buried in Hartford, Conn., in 1886, was recently opened and found to contain criticisms of a number of aspects of those times. Well, that's the best thing to do with gripes — bury 'em and forget 'em.

It's in the pro football training camp that many an aspiring half and an ambitious quarter begins to feel like a dime.

The Hartford capsule did not, however, contain any complaints about television. It had not as yet been invented.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Legislation against kissing would hardly be classed as a hopeful prospect, socially or medically. To assure those who are fearful that their inalienable rights are to be threatened, the chances that kissing will be officially outlawed are very slim.

The aim of most modern hospitals is to make everything disposable and dispensable. Here is where kissing is really being threatened.

As part of a program to prevent bringing infections to patients, hospitals are actually working on a campaign to keep visitors from kissing patients. It has been found that all the security against infection is threatened when kind relatives and friends bring patients germs and bacteria in addition to flowers, candies and cookies.

Dr. James T. Hicks, of the Oak Park Hospital in Illinois, says, "We try to approach infection-prevention scientifically, only to find that our efforts are being spoiled. . . . The most up-to-date infection prevention programs can be ruined when a visitor marches up to a patient's bed and begins hugging and kissing."

Too many visitors, too much kissing and visits that are too long can undo many of the efforts to return the patient quickly to good health.

Milk is still considered to be an "ideal food." It is said that unless one is particularly allergic to milk it can be of benefit to people of all ages.

An interesting observation was made by Dr. Patricia A. O'Connor, of the University of Michigan Medical Center. She noted that some children at the age of two or three months begin to drink as much as a quart and a half a day, and their appetite for other foods may become lessened.

The result is that some of these children who are otherwise in perfect health may develop an iron deficiency anemia because they do not have enough appetite left for cereals, eggs, meat and fish. These foods are particularly rich in iron.

Dr. O'Connor suggests that an infant should also be fed foods enriched with iron when his milk intake is about a quart or more.

It is well-known that the blood pressure varies from hour-to-hour, depending on rest, food, drugs and the emotions. It sometimes becomes important to know the blood pressure variations throughout the day.

A small, portable blood pressure machine can now be strapped to the arm and carried as easily as a small radio, all the time making a tracing of the blood pressure.

The instrument was devised by Dr. Lennart Levi, of the Karoliska Institute in Stockholm. This may be a valuable addition to the study of people with stressful occupations and as a preventive in overburdening them.

Good doctors deserve good patients. The art of being a good patient further rapid recovery. All complaints should be written down so that the patient never leaves the doctor's office saying, "I didn't understand about the drug or I forgot to ask him an important question."

China's Nuclear Power Grows:
Time of Grace Is Running Out

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Writers

Soon Red China will have a finger on the button. Will she, by accident or design, launch a nuclear catastrophe?

Fallout effects of China's H-bomb test last June 17 are enormous. The impact on the vast underdeveloped world is incalculable.

For 18 years the United States and the Soviet Union have warily confronted each other with awesome nuclear arsenals but managed to preserve nuclear peace. They know what nuclear war could mean.

China, though still a fledgling member of the nuclear club, vastly alters the peace equation. Caught in the madness of the purge that Mao Tse-tung calls the cultural revolution, she is a puzzling X, perhaps even to herself.

Experts put many worried questions:

—Do Chinese leaders really know what a nuclear war could mean in human casualties and physical destruction?

—Suppose Red China donated a nuclear weapon to an Arab nation, out of a desire to make the Chinese dragon bigger than the Russian bear in the Middle East. Israel, some scientists say, "practically has the basic stuff lying around" to produce weapons in a few years. Might a new Middle East war some day be an atomic one?

—About 20 nations have the capability, some with little or no outside help, of building a nuclear weapon. Will Red China's success put pressure on those governments to produce such weapons?

—Is China really the "crazy, reckless, paranoid country" she appears to be to outsiders, or is her behavior just a passing phenomenon created by Mao's eagerness to shape Chinese into selfless robots?

—Might India and Japan, close enough to feel the hot breath of China's threat, feel impelled now to produce nuclear weapons? Either one can.

Only Japan knows the horrors, first hand, of nuclear weapons. Those used against it were the first A-bombs, enormously destructive but still less powerful than H-bombs.

So deep was the Japanese shock that public opinion violently opposed building such weapons for a Japanese arsenal, and even slowed Japan's development of peaceful atomic power. But now Japan faces a cruel choice: to demand more protection from America—and perhaps from the Soviet Union too—or to gamble that she will not some day be a target of China.

Time has eroded memories of the full terror that the atomic bombs of 22 years ago brought to Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Perhaps more than half the world's population is too young to know much about it. Perhaps, some observers suggest, this fading memory figured in the relative calm with which Asian nations reacted to China's new power. There may be other reasons, too.

Some of the worry among China's neighbors—India, Japan, Burma, Australia, Malaysia, Indonesia—has been eased by the spectacle of Mao's cultural revolution, suggesting vast political, social and economic turmoil in China. Will the strife not eventually slow or even halt China's nuclear program?

It hasn't, up to now, and the chances seem to be that it will not.

Ten years ago some of China's scientists, including those returned from the United States, were caught in a Mao trap: the Hundred Flowers period, when Mao invited open criticism of his regime. The criticism came in a wave, and then Mao cracked down hard on the critics.

But important scientists got off lightly. Mao distrusted those who had been abroad long years, fearing that they had been contaminated by American and other foreign ideas. But Mao also needed them. They were required only to make routine formal confessions. Other intellectuals were forced into corrective labor for re-education.

And in the cultural revolution, Mao's supporters took care to insulate the important scientists. Rule 12 of the Aug. 8, 1966, communique that launched Mao's Red Guards, the storm troopers of political orthodoxy, took care to steer them clear of the scientists.

Still, the cultural revolution damaged China's prestige among underdeveloped nations, as did China's abortive diplomatic offensives in Africa and Asia. Perhaps, some Asians reasoned, China was so badly off balance that it could not risk any deep international trouble.

One top China watcher for the U.S. government speculated that "17 years of political infighting left the Chinese people bone-weary of it all; China watchers believe they are witnessing a change of dynasty. Great revisions may come."

But, if Mao's philosophy wins out, Asians will have to take another look.

Few doubt that China eventually will be the dominant power in Asia. It has the resources, and energetic, clever people. The ifs involve China's problems of food, population, education, training, industrialization, advances in science other than in the nuclear field, and most of all, solving the present political chaos.

So far China has avoided direct involvement in Vietnam.

China wants to give no excuse for an obliterative attack on her new nuclear installations.

But whatever happens, China is going to be a major problem, for both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In direct military threat, the United States seems to have little to fear from China until the mid-1970s.

For the United States, various experts agree, one consequence of China's nuclear march will be increased pressure to develop antiballistic missiles to intercept and destroy any incoming enemy missiles. The ABM cost to taxpayers could range anywhere from $4 billion to $70 billion, perhaps just as a starter, for limited defenses.

"It is no longer a question of whether to have them, but when," declares Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., long a member of military and atomic energy committees. Others argue that ABMs will trigger a spiral in the arms race, forcing the Soviet Union to strengthen its striking force or expand its own ABMs.

Arguing against extensive ABM efforts now, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that probably "all we would accomplish would be to increase greatly both their defense expenditures and ours, without any gain in real security to either side."

Practical testing of ABMs could violate the limited nuclear treaty which bans atmospheric testing.

Chinese bombs affect Soviet thinking, too. A ban on ABM systems must be considered among "the whole range of questions relating to arms and disarmament," said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin just after China exploded her H-bomb.

China is an infuriating problem to Moscow. China's rulers claim to be the true Communists and denounce the Communist parties in the Soviet Union and elsewhere as "revisionist" betrayers of world revolution.

China's feud with Moscow, aggravated by Peking's eagerness for nuclear arms, has ripped the fabric of world Communist unity to shreds.

Peking, calling the Soviet Union its enemy, has laid claim to 600,000 square miles of Soviet territory. The Chinese, with increasing frequency, stir up trouble on Soviet borders. Moscow pumps inflammatory propaganda into Chinese border provinces populated predominantly by non-Chinese people.

Since 1960, there has been no Soviet scientific help for China. But the experts say China still can spring surprises.

She can develop long-range rockets, they say, by brute engineering. A missile good enough to hit within five miles of an intended target could wipe out Moscow or Leningrad, or Los Angeles or San Francisco. But China, with her vast territory and primarily agrarian population, offers fewer strategic targets. Missiles aimed at China would have to pinpoint missile sites.

In any case, America's China policy is up for re-examination. The average American, looking at the situation, feels helpless, but there are glimpses of optimism.

"It's been a dangerous world for a long time," Sen. Jackson remarks. "But the cataclysmic nature of nuclear warfare has to be a restraining influence. It means destroying mankind. Nuclear weapons carry an enormous responsibility. Failure to understand the nature of nuclear war means annihilation."

He and others point out that the U.S.S.R. modified its stance as it grew more powerful, as its living standards rose, and it had more to lose from holocaust.

In the long view, says an authority on China, advances in technology and science and in satellite communications will tend to knit nations closer together. Nations cooperating with these advances know they can progress faster than nations which try to go it alone. Thus, there may be "a suction of China to join in on this."

Some hope the future will see a wearing down of "hard corners of truth," the beliefs that one country or one group has the absolute truth which others must accept.

Balenciaga Show Avoids
Gimmicks for Winter

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Balenciaga drew the curtain on the Paris winter fashion shows Friday with a collection devoid of jazz or gimmicks and expressing beautiful, traditional and true elegance.

There's big news in suits displayed by Balenciaga, often called the grand master of haute couture. This season he likes them cut close to the body, following its shape and featuring a curved cutaway jacket.

He does them again and again in Donegal or salt and pepper tweeds, or black wool touched with a narrow black velvet collar.

This by no means signifies that he has given up his own techniques. Favorite Themes such as wrist length of fingertip tunics, appear throughout. The newest are worn with slacks or bermudas.

Many of the long pants are in uncured lamb, as worn by Balkan or Spanish peasants. And he does topcoats in the same lamb and in almost every color—green, cerise, cafe au lait, beige and brown.

A good third of Balenciaga's collection is shown with "twin" girls wearing the almost identical topcoat, though always in a difference color, over tunics and pants, bermudas, a divided skirt or a little belted jersey dress.

Many skirts in Balenciaga's suits are quite straight. The newest have a back panel with multiple pleating, and others a wide front panel left unpressed. Sleeves are narrow, set in a high shoulderline, but on topcoats they are raglan for the most part, expertly tailored and with no padding anywhere.

Most applause went to the simplest unfitted shifts with such subtle detailing as an unpressed front pleat and side pockets in the seams and a couple of buttons, all in a little grego wool dress.

Evening hemlines dip and trail in potal points, umbrella points and scooped effects. The fronts are cut away to the knee caps.

Balenciaga's hemlines are at the knees for daytime, but sometimes clear them for sports. For evening, there is a stunt or two like twin miniskirts in black or coffee "gazar" with full bolero jackets.

China's Nuclear Power Grows:
Time of Grace Is Running Out

Associated Press Writers

Soon Red China will have a finger on the button. Will she, by accident or design, launch a nuclear catastrophe?

Fallout effects of China's H-bomb test last June 17 are enormous. The impact on the vast underdeveloped world is incalculable.

For 18 years the United States and the Soviet Union have warily confronted each other with awesome nuclear arsenals but managed to preserve nuclear peace. They know what nuclear war could mean.

China, though still a fledgling member of the nuclear club, vastly alters the peace equation. Caught in the madness of the purge that Mao Tse-tung calls the cultural revolution, she is a puzzling X, perhaps even to herself.

Experts put many worried questions:

—Do Chinese leaders really know what a nuclear war could mean in human casualties and physical destruction?

—Suppose Red China donated a nuclear weapon to an Arab nation, out of a desire to make the Chinese dragon bigger than the Russian bear in the Middle East. Israel, some scientists say, "practically has the basic stuff lying around" to produce weapons in a few years. Might a new Middle East war some day be an atomic one?

—About 20 nations have the capability, some with little or no outside help, of building a nuclear weapon. Will Red China's success put pressure on those governments to produce such weapons?

—Is China really the "crazy, reckless, paranoid country" she appears to be to outsiders, or is her behavior just a passing phenomenon created by Mao's eagerness to shape Chinese into selfless robots?

—Might India and Japan, close enough to feel the hot breath of China's threat, feel impelled now to produce nuclear weapons? Either one can.

Only Japan knows the horrors, first hand, of nuclear weapons. Those used against it were the first A-bombs, enormously destructive but still less powerful than H-bombs.

So deep was the Japanese shock that public opinion violently opposed building such weapons for a Japanese arsenal, and even slowed Japan's development of peaceful atomic power. But now Japan faces a cruel choice: to demand more protection from America—and perhaps from the Soviet Union too—or to gamble that she will not some day be a target of China.

Time has eroded memories of the full terror that the atomic bombs of 22 years ago brought to Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Perhaps more than half the world's population is too young to know much about it. Perhaps, some observers suggest, this fading memory figured in the relative calm with which Asian nations reacted to China's new power. There may be other reasons, too.

Some of the worry among China's neighbors—India, Japan, Burma, Australia, Malaysia, Indonesia—has been eased by the spectacle of Mao's cultural revolution, suggesting vast political, social and economic turmoil in China. Will the strife not eventually slow or even halt China's nuclear program?

It hasn't, up to now, and the chances seem to be that it will not.

Ten years ago some of China's scientists, including those returned from the United States, were caught in a Mao trap: the Hundred Flowers period, when Mao invited open criticism of his regime. The criticism came in a wave, and then Mao cracked down hard on the critics.

But important scientists got off lightly. Mao distrusted those who had been abroad long years, fearing that they had been contaminated by American and other foreign ideas. But Mao also needed them. They were required only to make routine formal confessions. Other intellectuals were forced into corrective labor for re-education.

And in the cultural revolution, Mao's supporters took care to insulate the important scientists. Rule 12 of the Aug. 8, 1966, communique that launched Mao's Red Guards, the storm troopers of political orthodoxy, took care to steer them clear of the scientists.

Still, the cultural revolution damaged China's prestige among underdeveloped nations, as did China's abortive diplomatic offensives in Africa and Asia. Perhaps, some Asians reasoned, China was so badly off balance that it could not risk any deep international trouble.

One top China watcher for the U.S. government speculated that "17 years of political infighting left the Chinese people bone-weary of it all; China watchers believe they are witnessing a change of dynasty. Great revisions may come."

But, if Mao's philosophy wins out, Asians will have to take another look.

Few doubt that China eventually will be the dominant power in Asia. It has the resources, and energetic, clever people. The ifs involve China's problems of food, population, education, training, industrialization, advances in science other than in the nuclear field, and, most of all, solving the present political chaos.

So far China has avoided direct involvement in Vietnam.

China wants to give no excuse for an obliterative attack on her new nuclear installations.

But whatever happens, China is going to be a major problem, for both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In direct military threat, the United States seems to have little to fear from China until the mid-1970s.

For the United States, various experts agree, one consequence of China's nuclear march will be increased pressure to develop antiballistic missiles to intercept and destroy any incoming enemy missiles. The ABM cost to taxpayers could range anywhere from $4 billion to $70 billion, perhaps just as a starter, for limited defenses.

"It is no longer a question of whether to have them, but when," declares Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., long a member of military and atomic energy committees. Others argue that ABMs will trigger a spiral in the arms race, forcing the Soviet Union to strengthen its striking force or expand its own ABMs.

Arguing against extensive ABM efforts now, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that probably "all we would accomplish would be to increase greatly both their defense expenditures and ours, without any gain in real security to either side."

Practical testing of ABMs could violate the limited nuclear treaty which bans atmospheric testing.

Chinese bombs affect Soviet thinking, too. A ban on ABM systems must be considered among "the whole range of questions relating to arms and disarmament," said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin just after China exploded her H-bomb.

China is an infuriating problem to Moscow. China's rulers claim to be the true Communists and denounce the Communist parties in the Soviet Union and elsewhere as "revisionist" betrayers of world revolution. China's feud with Moscow, aggravated by Peking's eagerness for nuclear arms, has ripped the fabric of world Communist unity to shreds.

Peking, calling the Soviet Union its enemy, has laid claim to 600,000 square miles of Soviet territory. The Chinese, with increasing frequency, stir up trouble on Soviet borders. Moscow pumps inflammatory propaganda into Chinese border provinces populated predominantly by non-Chinese people.

Since 1960, there has been no Soviet scientific help for China. But the experts say China still can spring surprises.

She can develop long-range rockets, they say, by brute engineering. A missile good enough to hit within five miles of an intended target could wipe out Moscow or Leningrad, or Los Angeles or San Francisco. But China, with her vast territory and primarily agrarian population, offers fewer strategic targets. Missiles aimed at China would have to pinpoint missile sites.

In any case, America's China policy is up for re-examination. The average American, looking at the situation, feels helpless, but there are glimpses of optimism.

"It's been a dangerous world for a long time," Sen. Jackson remarks. "But the cataclysmic nature of nuclear warfare has to be a restraining influence. It means destroying mankind. Nuclear weapons carry an enormous responsibility. Failure to understand the nature of nuclear war means annihilation."

He and others point out that the U.S.S.R. modified its stance as it grew more powerful, as its living standards rose, and it had more to lose from holocaust.

In the long view, says an authority on China, advances in technology and science and in satellite communications will tend to knit nations closer together. Nations cooperating with these advances know they can progress faster than nations which try to go it alone. Thus, there may be "a suction of China to join in on this."

Some hope the future will see a wearing down of "hard corners of truth," the beliefs that one country or one group has the absolute truth which others must accept.

Giants Beat New York, 3-0

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Mets, unhappily settling ever deeper into the National League cellar, suffered a double defeat Friday night.

Not only were they beaten 3-0 by San Francisco, the Mets also lost their own personal patsy and it might be a long time before they find one to replace him.

Giants' pitcher Ray Sadecki had somehow not managed to beat the Mets for more than three years—surely a record of sorts—before Friday's victory and had been chased in each of his previous eight starts against them.

That situation was abruptly terminated when in 8-13 innings he gave up just six hits before getting some last-minute help in mopping up the Mets from Frank Linzy. It was the left-hander's first victory in nearly a month and dropped the Mets 23½ games off the pace.

In other National League games, St. Louis shut out Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia crushed Houston 7-1, Atlanta beat Chicago 6-3, and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Cleveland thrashed Detroit 11-5, Minnesota shut out Boston 3-0, Kansas City nudged New York 2-1 and California nipped Washington 5-4. Chicago and Baltimore were rained out.

Sadecki broke his jinx against the Mets by slowing down out on the mound.

"I usually get out there and work too fast," he said. "It's a big problem of mine. But catcher Tom Haller comes out and talks to me and won't give me that ball, so I have to slow down."

Sadecki struck out nine batters, drove in one run with a single and moved a runner to third with another. Jim Hart hit his 25th homer.

St. Louis moved seven games ahead of Chicago in the National League race, with Larry Jaster mowing down Cincinnati on four hits. The Cards scored all their runs in the sixth inning. Lou Brock doubling in two of them.

Dick Ellsworth stopped the Astros on seven hits, completing his first game since April as the Phillies struck for 16 hits. Don Lock hit a three-run homer, and Johnny Briggs had four hits. Rich Allen drove in two runs and had three hits.

Dennis Menke had four hits and Joe Torre three as the Braves presented the Cubs with their sixth defeat in their last seven games. Pat Jarvis, 12-4, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run. Alley singled leading off the 10th, moved to second on Jim Pagan's bunt hit and came around when Lefebvre fielded Jose Pagan's bunt and threw it past third trying for the force-out.

Have-Nots Run Strong In Western Open Golf

CHICAGO (AP) —The have-nots of golf's golden tournament tour are making a strong run for the $20,000 first prize of the Western Open.

At the start of today's third round over Beverly's par-em-battered lay-out, Labron Harris, son of the Oklahoma State golf coach and 1962 National Amateur champion, led with an eight-under-par 134. In two rounds he has 18 one-putt greens.

Bob Stanton, 21-year-old Australian, and Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., were at 137. South African Bob Verway and Steve Opperman, 1964 Western Amateur titlist, were locked at 138.

Harris shot a 68 in Friday's second round, Stanton a 71, Dill a 66, Verway a 72 and Opperman a 71.

Verway's only victory was in the 1965 Almaden Open in California, but he served notice last week by picking up his biggest check of $12,000 for taking second in the Minnesota Classic.

All the other youngsters have yet to win a tournament.

Sandwiched into positions in this group are Julius Boros, aiming for his fourth triumph of the year, and Dave Marr, the 1965 National PGA champion, each at 136. Boros fired a 68 Friday and Marr a 66.

A determined Doug Sanders was in the 137 bracket, and John Pott and Mike Souhak were 139.

Some of the year's biggest winners were fighting back from poor starts. Jack Nicklaus was grouped at 140. Gay Brewer at 141, and defending champion Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Don January at 142.

The field was cut to 79 players for today's round, and it took 145 or better to make it.

Ohio-Kentucky In 1st Place Tie At Tri-State

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnatians, John Irwin and Herb Jones, fired a seven-under-par 65 in the second round of the 28th Tri-State Golf Tournament Friday to send Ohio into a first-place tie with Kentucky.

The five low-scoring teams from both states took 698 strokes to complete the two-day tournament. Indiana finished well behind with 714.

Irwin and Jones toured Metawah Country Club's 6,637-yard course with a 72-65-137.

It was the 13th time Ohio has finished either first or in a first-place tie with Kentucky. Kentucky won the tournament three times and tied Ohio twice and Indiana once. Indiana has won the state title 11 times and tied Kentucky on one occasion.

Giants Beat New York, 3-0

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Mets, unhappily settling ever deeper into the National League cellar, suffered a double defeat Friday night.
Not only were they beaten 3-0 by San Francisco, the Mets also lost their own personal patsy and it might be a long time before they find one to replace him.
Giants' pitcher Ray Sadecki had somehow not managed to beat the Mets for more than three years—surely a record of sorts—before Friday's victory and had been chased in each of his previous eight starts against them.
That situation was abruptly terminated when in 8 1/3 innings he gave up just six hits before getting some last-minute help in mopping up the Mets from Frank Linzy. It was the left-hander's first victory in nearly a month and dropped the Mets 23 1/2 games off the pace.
In other National League games, St. Louis shut out Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia crushed Houston 7-1, Atlanta beat Chicago 6-3, and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Cleveland thrashed Detroit 11-5, Minnesota shut out Boston 3-0, Kansas City nudged New York 2-1 and California nipped Washington 5-4. Chicago and Baltimore were rained out.
Sadecki broke his jinx against the Mets by slowing down on the mound.
"I usually get out there and work too fast," he said. "It's a big problem of mine. But catcher Tom Haller comes out and talks to me and won't give me that ball, so I have to slow down."
Sadecki struck out nine batters, drove in one run with a single and moved a runner to third with another. Jim Hart hit his 25th homer.
St. Louis moved seven games ahead of Chicago in the National League race, with Larry Jaster mowing down Cincinnati on four hits. The Cards scored 11 runs in the sixth inning. Lou Brock doubling in two of them.
Dick Ellsworth stopped the Astros on seven hits, completing his first game since April as the Phillies struck for 16 hits. Don Lock hit a three-run homer, and Johnny Briggs had four hits. Rich Allen drove in two runs and had three hits.

Dennis Menke had four hits and Joe Torre three as the Braves presented the Cubs with their sixth defeat in their last seven games. Pat Jarvis, 12-4, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run. Alley singled leading off the 10th, moved to second on Jim Pagan's bunt hit and came around when Lefebvre fielded Jose Pagan's bunt and threw it past third trying for the force-out.

Have-Nots Run Strong In Western Open Golf

CHICAGO (AP) —The have-nots of golf's golden tournament tour are making a strong run for the $20,000 first prize of the Western Open.
At the start of today's third round over Beverly's par-em-battered layout, Labron Harris, son of the Oklahoma State golf coach and 1962 National Amateur champion, led with an eight-under-par 134. In two rounds he has 18 one-putt greens.
Bob Stanton, 21-year-old Australian, and Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., were at 137. South African Bob Verway and Steve Opperman, 1964 Western Amateur titlist, were locked at 138.
Harris shot a 68 in Friday's second round, Stanton a 71, Dill a 66, Verway a 72 and Opperman a 71.
Verway's only victory was in the 1965 Almaden Open in California, but he served notice last week by picking up his biggest check of $12,000 for taking second in the Minnesota Classic.
All the other youngsters have yet to win a tour tournament.
Sandwiched into positions in this group are Julius Boros, aiming for his fourth triumph of the year, and Dave Marr, the 1965 National PGA champion, each at 136. Boros fired a 68 Friday and Marr a 66.
A determined Doug Sanders was in the 137 bracket, and John Pott and Mike Souhak were 139.
Some of the year's biggest winners were fighting back from poor starts. Jack Nicklaus was grouped at 140. Gay Brewer at 141, and defending champion Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Don January at 142.
The field was cut to 79 players for today's round, and it took 145 or better to make it.

Nolan OK for 5 Innings

Cincinnati Reds Lose, 5-0, To St. Louis Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Gary Nolan managed to stay out of trouble against the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night until a sixth-inning explosion that sent the Cincinnati Reds down to a 5-0 defeat.
The Reds collected only four hits off Larry Jaster and until the sixth inning the first-place Cardinals didn't do much better.
A two-run double by Lou Brock was the big hit of the inning that sent the 19-year-old right-hander down to his fifth defeat in 13 decisions.
Nolan's troubles started when he hit Orlando Cepeda with a pitch after one out and then walked Tim McCarver. Mike Shannon's single to center gave

St. Louis its first run and another crossed the plate on Phil Gagliano's double.
A pass to Dale Maxville loaded the bases and the Cardinals then made it 3-0 when Jaster hit into a force play. Brock followed with the double to left center that knocked Nolan out of the game.

Ohio-Kentucky In 1st Place Tie At Tri-State

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnatians, John Irwin and Herb Jones, fired a seven-under-par 65 in the second round of the 28th Tri-State Golf Tournament Friday to send Ohio into a first-place tie with Kentucky.
The five low-scoring teams from both states took 698 strokes to complete the two-day tournament. Indians finished well behind with 714.
Irwin and Jones toured Maketawh Country Club's 6,657-yard course with a 72-65-137. It was the 13th time Ohio has finished either first or in a first-place tie with Kentucky. Kentucky won the tournament three times and tied Ohio twice and Indiana once. Indiana has won the state title 11 times and tied Kentucky on one occasion.

Greeks Opposing New Government

ATHENS (AP) — A member of Greece's ruling military junta says Communist elements are trying to provoke the government into stricter repressive measures in hopes that they will touch off a revolt.

This statement by Brig. Stylianos Patacos acknowledged that there is a slowly growing movement of opposition to the military regime that took over April 21.

It also contained the implication that the government which already controls almost every walk of Greek life does not want to tighten the reins any more if it can be avoided.

Patacos, interior minister in the four-month-old regime, expounded his views on the Communist role in the resistance movement during several informal talks with newsmen this week. He said the operation which is beginning to emerge is still small and scattered, but is increasingly irritating.

Antiregime handbills have been sprinkling down on the back streets of Athens almost nightly during the past week or two. A homemade bomb exploded near a big Athens tourist hotel Thursday night—the second such blast in a month.

An underground group which calls itself "New Greece" or "Patriotic Front" has been sending its mimeographed propaganda leaflets to news agencies and embassies.

There was a widely circulated report, not confirmed by the government, that somebody got away with hanging a giant banner with anti government slogans from a window overlooking Central Constitution Square.

A hidden loudspeaker blared tape-recorded insults at the government for more than an hour in an Athens street market until police found and dismantled it.

Scattered arrests for such activities have taken place from Crete to Macedonia.

Patacos implied, however, that provocation was coming mostly from outside Greece. All known leaders of this country's extreme left movements are among the nearly 2,000 political prisoners still held on Yioira and Leros islands in the Aegean Sea southeast of Athens. But other activists are still loose and awaiting guidance.

Patacos said these were the ones who under outside prodding, were beginning to cause trouble in Athens, Salonika and on the island of Crete to provoke the government to clamp on tighter controls.

Tax Bill At a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's a breakdown of the tax hike package sent to Congress Thursday by President Johnson:

Individual Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surcharge effective Oct. 1 of this year. This would mean a person who currently would pay $500 in income taxes would have to pay $550 over the course of a full year—or $512.50 this year, since the surcharge would be in effect only the final quarter. Unaffected would be some 16 million persons in the lowest income brackets.

Corporate Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surtax effective last July 1. Speed up corporate tax collections.

Automobile Taxes—Continue the 7 per cent manufacturer's excise tax on autos to July 1, 1969. It was scheduled to drop to 2 per cent next April 1 and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. Under the proposal it wouldn't dip to 1 per cent until Jan. 1, 1970.

Telephone Excise Taxes—Postpone until July 1, 1969, the cut in telephone excise taxes from 10 per cent to 1 per cent. It was scheduled for April 1. Postpone for one year the scheduled elimination of the tax.

Anticipated Results—A $6.3-billion increase in tax revenues for the fiscal year ending next June 30; excise tax postponements would salvage $300 million otherwise lost and the corporate speedup will net $800 million.

into the complex, but that only two hit the base. The others landed in the Long Tao river bordering the base, from which Navy patrol boats conduct operations against the Viet Cong in the delta.

The Navy said there were no casualties and only light damage to the facilities. In a heavier mortar and recoilless rifle shelling of the base and a nearby petroleum tank farm Thursday, 27 Americans and six Vietnamese were wounded and 1,000 55-gallon drums of fuel went up in flames.

A U.S. Marine security platoon guarding a bridge south of Da Nang came under heavy Communist attack early today. Two Marines were killed and 14 wounded.

Striking in darkness with small arms, automatic weapons, grenades and mortars, the Communists penetrated the Marine perimeter in two places.

Two Marine bunkers were destroyed by what were believed to be 40mm rockets. Communist casualties were not known.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported destroying a Viet Cong grenade factory 24 miles northwest of Saigon. The Americans found a large underground room containing eight 55-gallon drums containing tools, castings, explosives and other grenade parts.

U.S. B32 bombers flew four missions over South Vietnam Friday, striking three times in the A Shau Valley, near the Laotian border 400 miles north of Saigon.

The command confirmed that American artillery accidentally shot down an ammunition-carrying C7 Caribou transport Thursday as it approached a Special Forces camp west of Quang Ngai City. The plane's three crewmen were killed.

Greeks Opposing New Government

ATHENS (AP) — A member of Greece's ruling military junta says Communist elements are trying to provoke the government into stricter repressive measures in hopes that they will touch off a revolt.

This statement by Brig. Stylianos Patacos acknowledged that there is a slowly growing movement of opposition to the military regime that took over April 21.

It also contained the implication that the government which already controls almost every walk of Greek life does not want to tighten the reins any more if it can be avoided.

Patacos, interior minister in the four-month-old regime, expounded his views on the Communist role in the resistance movement during several informal talks with newsmen this week. He said the operation which is beginning to emerge is still small and scattered, but is increasingly irritating.

Antiregime handbills have been sprinkling down on the back streets of Athens almost nightly during the past week or two. A homemade bomb exploded near a big Athens tourist hotel Thursday night—the second such blast in a month.

An underground group which calls itself "New Greece" or "Patriotic Front" has been sending its mimeographed propaganda leaflets to news agencies and embassies.

There was a widely circulated report, not confirmed by the government, that somebody got away with hanging a giant banner with anti government slogans from a window overlooking Central Constitution Square.

A hidden loudspeaker blared tape-recorded insults at the government for more than an hour in an Athens street market until police found and dismantled it.

Scattered arrests for such activities have taken place from Crete to Macedonia.

Patacos implied, however, that provocation was coming mostly from outside Greece. All known leaders of this country's extreme left movements are among the nearly 2,000 political prisoners still held on Yfours and Leros islands in the Aegean Sea southeast of Athens. Other activists are still loose and awaiting guidance.

Patacos said these were the ones who under outside prodding, were beginning to cause trouble in Athens, Salonika and on the island of Crete to provoke the government to clamp on tighter controls.

Tax Bill At a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's a breakdown of the tax hike package sent to Congress Thursday by President Johnson:

Individual Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surcharge effective Oct. 1 of this year. This would mean a person who currently would pay $500 in income taxes would have to pay $550 over the course of a full year—or $52.50 this year, since the surcharge would be in effect only the final quarter. Unaffected would be some 16 million persons in the lowest income brackets.

Corporate Income Taxes—A 10-per cent surtax effective last July 1. Speed up corporate tax collections.

Automobile Taxes—Continue the 7 per cent manufacturer's excise tax on autos to July 1, 1969. It was scheduled to drop to 2 per cent next April 1 and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. Under the proposal it wouldn't dip to 1 per cent until Jan. 1, 1970.

Telephone Excise Taxes—Postpone until July 1, 1969, the cut in telephone excise taxes from 10 per cent to 1 per cent. It was scheduled for April 1. Postpone for one year the scheduled elimination of the tax.

Anticipated Results—A $6.3-billion increase in income tax revenues for the fiscal year ending next June 30; excise tax postponements would salvage $300 million otherwise lost and the corporate speedup will net $800 million.

Sports Clothes — 1. Carma Liston, 2. Diana Luckhart, 3. Debbie Young, 4. Dona Straley, 5. Sally Minor, 6. Linda Vance, 7. Brenda Mills, 8. Susie Breen, 9. Jo Ann Roese, 10. Christine Hanson.

into the complex, but that only two hit the base. The others landed in the Long Tao river bordering the base, from which Navy patrol boats conduct operations against the Viet Cong in the delta.

The Navy said there were no casualties and only light damage to the facilities. In a heavy mortar and recoilless rifle shelling of the base and a nearby petroleum tank farm Thursday, 27 Americans and six Vietnamese were wounded and 1,000 55-gallon drums of fuel went up in flames.

A U.S. Marine security platoon guarding a bridge south of Da Nang came under heavy Communist attack early today. Two Marines were killed and 14 wounded.

Striking in darkness with small arms, automatic weapons, grenades and mortars, the Communists penetrated the Marine perimeter in two places. Two Marine bunkers were destroyed by what were believed to be 40mm rockets. Communist casualties were not known.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported destroying a Viet Cong grenade factory 24 miles northwest of Saigon. The Americans found a large underground room containing eight 55-gallon drums containing tools, castings, explosives and other grenade parts.

U.S. B52 bombers flew four missions over South Vietnam Friday, striking three times in the A Shau Valley, near the Laotian border 400 miles north of Saigon.

The command confirmed that American artillery accidentally shot down an ammunition-carrying C7 Caribou transport Thursday as it approached a Special Forces camp west of Quang Ngai City. The plane's three crewmen were killed.
